Ashlawn school believes that one of the most important things every student can do to open their mind and broaden their horizons is to harness a love of reading.

So, to help you do this we are running a summer reading competition.

The English Department at Ashlawn School have recommended their favourite books and we challenge you to see how many you can read over the summer. Every time you read a book off the recommended reading list, you either need to get your parents/carers to sign your card or take your card into Hunts in Rugby where they will give you a stamp and a 10% discount off your next book. You can also head to your local library and borrow these books if you are a member and get your card signed to show you have borrowed it.

Then all you need to do is, bring back your card into school in September to your first English lesson and hand it in to your teacher. Not only will you receive achievement points for taking part but there will be prizes for the busiest readers of the summer.

So, what are you waiting for?

Get reading!!!
